A plasma display panel (PDP) is a type of flat panel display that uses small cells containing plasma; ionized gas that responds to electric fields.. Until about 2007, plasma displays were commonly used in larger televisions (30 inches (76 cm) and larger). Since then, they have lost nearly all market share due to competition from low-cost LCD displays and more expensive but high-contrast OLED ...

A famous story in artificial intelligence is how the US military developed algorithms to determine whether an image had a tank in it. They used a standard machine learning method: feed the computer a "training set" of photos, some of which had tanks in them and some of which didn't, and let algorithms identify which features in the photos correlated to tanks being shown.
